Monarch Butterfly

There is no logical evolutionary explanation for the metamorphosis of the monarch butterfly. It begins life as an egg on the underside of a milkweed leaf. In a few days a tiny larva emerges. In 3 weeks becomes a 2" long caterpillar with yellow, white and black stripes. It then spins a pad, hangs motionless upside down for a half day. Then it jerks convulsively, sheds its outer skin, head, and 16 legs, and transforms into a jade-green pupa or chrysalis, with gold spots. While in this state, all its interior parts dissolve into a amorphous green liquid, except for its tiny red heart. In 8-14 days its outer shell opens and a newly formed butterfly unfolds. It now has 6 legs, 4 beautiful orange wings with black borders, a 4" wing-span and compound eyes with 6,000 lenses.

In the fall Monarchs migrate up to 3,000 miles from Canada and the United States to the Neovolcanic Mountains of Mexico, and then return in the spring. Amazingly, it takes 3 generations to complete the cycle, 2 generations live for a total of 4 months, and the other lives for 8 months. No single generation ever completes the cycle, yet the cycle repeats year after year. Incredible!!!

Billions of years simply doesn't fit the observable and otherwise indisputable evidence.

- All age dating methods are based on unprovable assumptions.
- Answers in Genesis (AIG) organization had assorted rocks of known ages tested by various methods. The results confirmed that when the ages are known, the results claimed are completely erroneous.
- Radiocarbon or C14 dating of plants and animals is not consistent with either the assumptions or the most recent calculations of scientists. The age of plants & animals is consistent with biblical age not billions of years.

- Most dating methods actually point to a young earth/universe.
- The Big Bang Theory simply does not address the critical issues of our day. Where did the matter, energy and molecular structure come from to support a big bang? How could an explosion result in such diversity and beauty?
- The composition of each celestial body in our Solar System differs. They don't always rotate in the same direction. We still teach the Nebular theory even though it was previously disproven and the evidence never refuted.

It's Your Choice!

Nothing + Time = Nothing

Nothing + God = Everything
