

The Miracle of the Human Body

Think about it - In its absolute simplest form, the human body is made from non-living parts. Scientists have never created life from non-living inorganic chemicals. The law of biogenesis states that life only comes from life. Life exists only as a sustaining gift from God.

Our body is the sum total of interdependent, irreducibly complex organs and systems that must be present from the beginning to be viable and to replicate.

The eye is irreducibly complex. There is no purpose for the eye until it is fully formed. It is the same for the heart, lungs, kidneys, brain, stomach and the reproductive system. None of these complex interdependent organs function on their own. Unless they all existed together right from the beginning, there would be no human life.

Similarly, our blood clotting mechanism has no purpose until it completes several stages of development. Yet without this clotting mechanism you would bleed to death from a single cut. This isn't the product of an evolutionary accident. It is a clear description of God's design.

The circulatory system has 60,000 miles (100,000 kms) of blood vessels, arteries and capillaries for transporting blood. The primary vessels flow from the heart through the body and back to the heart again. If the flow of blood was not perfectly designed to make the return trip from the beginning we would bleed to death.

Nothing is simple about the human body. A postage stamp size piece of skin has 3 million cells, 3 feet of blood vessels, 12 of nerves, 100 sweat glands, 15 oil glands and 25 nerve endings.

The reproductive system is another miracle. Babies have a totally different life support system before birth than after. Babies live in a water world and the umbilical cord acts as a temporary replacement for the lungs until the baby is born.

Your heart is a miracle organ. Without any action on your part, your heart beats at a rate of about 100,000 beats per day. Suggesting that the human heart is the product of a mindless, random series of events is simply foolish.

It is an irrefutable biological fact that the fertilized egg is truly an entire human being. Nothing will be added to the first cell except nutrition and oxygen. Life truly begins at fertilization. (Jeremiah 1:5).

The complex interdependent DNA, RNA and Protein model can only exist if God exists. This is because the protein that makes DNA can only be made from the coded instructions on the DNA itself.

Scientists have removed parts from the simplest living creatures to determine at what minimum point life can be sustained. They don't get very far before life becomes non-viable. To think that the process works in reverse is simply not practical. <http://www.ctvn.org/programs-origins.asp>

The human body is not a product of evolution. Let's be clear that we did not evolve from apes or anything else. We are created by a purposeful loving God. Evolution theory contends mankind evolved from primates. At least 61 primates make up the total primate population today of 1.6 million. There are 7.3 billion humans living today, 4550 x the primate population. If evolution theory were true there should be about 277,500 new species evolved from humans. There are none.

Your body proves that indeed you are a miracle created by a God who loves you deeply. He wants you to trust in Him, not in a world filled with people who would have you believe there is no God.
